

BEZALEEL

BIO

Bezaleel aka ORFOLOR also known as Carlos Orfale has been associated with Electronic Music since 1995; his involvements include the production and promotion of underground music events in his based cities: Barranquilla, Colombia and Miami, EEUU. While living abroad in Miami he embraced what he calls a gift from God and started playing music for the masses. Soon he discovered the incredible energy that can be transfered to crowds while playing his music.

In 2010, he took the next big step and started his own music label; SnP Records, with the focus being on the distribution and production of high quality electronic dance music.

In 2013 he founded Electronic Art Festival in his beloved city of Barranquilla; which serves as a platform for all audio/visual artists to show their talents and get exposure nationally+internationally.

Nowadays Carlos is even more involved in his music career as you may find him in the studio, evolving sound thorough his own process of creation, working side by side with his fellow SnP artists who he considers family.
